Dear ACOOG Annual Conference Exhibitor:

Thank you for your interest in planning an Industry-Supported Satellite Symposium in conjunction with American College of Osteopathic Obstetricians and Gynecologists’ 75th Annual Conference.

The ACOOG Annual Conference is scheduled for March 26-29, 2008 in Orlando, Florida at the Hyatt Regency Grand Cypress Hotel.

Enclosed you will find the 2008 Industry-Supported Satellite Symposia Guidelines and an Application. Industry-Supported Satellite Symposia are educational programs, which may or may not be CME-certified. Preference is given to CME-accredited programs and priority preference is given to programs designated as Category 1A by the American Osteopathic Association.

If your organization would like to be considered for an Industry-Supported Satellite Symposia program, please review this packet and submit all applicable forms and payment. ACOOG approval is required for all functions held in conjunction with our meetings. We look forward to your participation!

Best regards,

Steve P. Buchanan, DO, FACOOG (Dist)
Executive Vice President
2008 INDUSTRY-SUPPORTED SATELLITE SYMPOSIA GUIDELINES

Please ensure that all relevant personnel of the CME Provider/Accredited Sponsor, Supporting Organization(s), Program Organizer/Communications Company and all representatives are made aware of the following guidelines. Compliance is not optional and may impact your promotional efforts and eligibility for involvement with future meetings.

DEFINITIONS (for purpose of these guidelines):

An Industry-Supported Satellite symposium is:
- An educational program, which may or may not be CME-certified;
- Planned and implemented by an organization external to ACOOG;
- Neither sponsored nor endorsed by ACOOG; and
- Not part of ACOOG’s 2008 Annual Meeting
- Is one to one and one-half hours in length
- Is an educational, research or marketing program involving attendees of ACOOG’s Annual Meeting

CME Provider/Accredited Sponsor:
The organization planning the CME content certifying the activity for CME credit, e.g., hospital, university, society, etc.

Commercial Supporter:
The organization(s) providing funding for the symposia program, e.g. pharmaceutical, device or medical supply company. Only a confirmed exhibitor can be a commercial supporter of satellite symposia.

Program Organizer:
The organization arranging logistical details of the program, e.g. communications company, agency, CME provider, etc.

NUMBER OF EVENTS
ACOOG will determine the maximum number of industry-supported satellite symposia permitted at its conference. These events will not interfere with ACOOG educational programming or educational events during the 2008 Annual Convention. These events may overlap with ACOOG-planned social functions.

Applications will be reviewed on a first-come, first-served basis. Only complete applications will be accepted for processing. Incomplete applications will not be accepted. ACOOG will not be responsible for determining if companies securing the same time slots are competitors. Review ‘Deadlines’ below.

SCHEDULING
Requests for a specific date require ACOOG approval. Requests will be considered on a first-come, first-served basis and are based on space availability at the hotel. Note: meeting room rental may be charged by the hotel.

THIRD PARTY PLANNERS
Exhibiting companies are subject to all Rules and Regulations regarding Industry-Supported Satellite Symposia. It will be the responsibility of the Third Party Planner to communicate with the exhibiting company.

CME GUIDELINES
Industry-Supported Satellite Symposia may be certified for CME credit. ACOOG will not designate CME credit for these programs. Those wishing their symposium to be CME-certified must obtain certification from another accredited CME Provider/Accredited Sponsor (hospital, university, etc). Preference is given to CME-certified activities and priority preference is given to CME activities certified as Category 1A by the American Osteopathic Association.

All Industry-Supported Satellite Symposia offering CME must be in compliance with the most current essentials and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the American Medical Association (AMA) and the American Osteopathic Association (AOA), including but not limited to the Standards for Commercial Support of Continuing Medical Education and AMA’s Ethical Opinion of Gifts to Physicians from Industry. It is the responsibility of the CME provider (of the satellite symposium) to ensure that the satellite symposium meets all the criteria necessary for designation of CME credit.

When applicable, certification that the program offers CME credit and what type of credit must be presented with application. Approval of proposed symposia will be based on these and other regulations outlined below.

EVALUATION DATA
All Industry-Supported Satellite Symposia programs offering CME credit are required to provide attendees with a mechanism to evaluate the symposium. ACOOG must also receive a complete report of the evaluation results. Attendees must be asked to evaluate the program for objectivity and/or the presence of commercial bias.

At a minimum, the evaluation mechanism must include the following questions:

- Did the faculty disclose any relationships with commercial supporters that might have been relevant to the presentation? Yes or No
- Did you detect any commercial bias in this symposium? Yes or No
- If yes, please provide details: ______________________________

A complete attendee list for the symposium and the evaluation results must be provided to ACOOG within 6 weeks of the event. Failure to do so may result in your inability to host a satellite symposium in the following year.

PROGRAM CONTENT
All Industry-Supported Symposia designated for CME credit must be balanced education programs, free of commercial bias and conform to the ACCME’s definition of CME.
