MS EPI

Appropriately quantify risk and protective factors for various public health problems
Identify categories of threats to validity and appropriate actions to minimize them
Analyze the components and applications of causal inference adopted in the field of epidemiology
Critically evaluate the quality and applicability of epidemiologic research
Apply epidemiological methods and assumptions governing their use in research