

Texas Army National Guard TCOM & PA Student Information

Medical Students, you may be able to receive $2,288 per month while attending Medical School! The Texas Army National Guard is looking to help you become a Physician. You may be able to qualify for a Direct Commissioned as a Medical Officer while in School and utilize the Medical and Dental Student Stipend Program which pays $2,288 per month while in Medical School and $2,288 per month while in Residency. Once the obligation period is payed back, you can opt into the Health Professional Loan Repayment which pays up to $240,000 in student loans ($40,000 per year). If you have no obligation, you may receive $25,000 per year for a two or three year agreement.

Additional benefits include, low cost health insurance ($50 per month for yourself or $200 per month for yourself and family), low cost life insurance, and a retirement. Your obligation is to become a qualified physician and serve one weekend a month, two weeks a year, and be available to provide your medical skills if deployed.

If you would like more information, please call Officer Strength Management at 512-782-1040 or 512-782-5269. We look forward to working with you to helping you become a Physician and leader in your field of expertise!

Physician Assistants, you may be able to receive up to $75,000 of your student loans repaid after becoming a fully qualified Physician Assistant! You may be able to qualify for a Direct Commissioned as a Physician Assistant and once the obligation period is payed back, you may receive $25,000 per year for a two or three year agreement.

Additional benefits include, low cost health insurance ($50 per month for yourself or $200 per month for yourself and family), low cost life insurance, and a retirement. Your obligation is to become a qualified physician and serve one weekend a month, two weeks a year, and be available to provide your medical skills if deployed.

If you would like more information, please call Officer Strength Management at 512-782-1040 or 512-782-5269. We look forward to working with you to helping you become a Physician Assistant and leader in your field of expertise!